Chapter 1. Pathogenesis of lichen planus	1
Aparna Palit, Arun C Inamadar
Etiological factors	1
Genetic predisposition	1
Infections	2
Vaccination	2
Drugs and chemicals	2
Mechanical trauma	2
Physical factors	3
Oxidative stress	3
Psychological stress	3
Autoimmunity	3
Immunopathogenesis	3
LP-specific antigen recognition	3
Cytotoxic T cell activation	3
Keratinocyte apoptosis	5
Other mechanisms possibly operative in the pathogenesis of LP	6
Immunopathogenesis of OLP	6
Oral lichenoid reaction due to amalgam	7
Chapter 2. Autoimmune and other associations of lichen planus	10
Vidya Kharkar
HCV infection, primary biliary cirrhosis, chronic active hepatitis and lichen planus	10
Thymoma and lichen planus	11
Autoimmune thyroid disease and lichen planus	11
Multiple autoimmune diseases and lichen planus	11
Vitiligo, psoriasis and lichen planus	11
Erosive lichen planus of the vulva and autoimmune disease	11
Paraneoplastic pemphigus and lichen planus	12
Other associations	12
Chapter 3. Clinical features of lichen planus	15
Shekhar S Haldar, Uday Khopkar
Terminology	15
Historical aspects	15
Epidemiology	15
Patient profile	15
Seasonal variation	16
Familial predilection	16
Clinical presentations	16
Primary lesion	16
Acute generalized (guttate or eruptive) pattern	16
Acute and subacute pattern with confluence of lesions	16
Chronic localized pattern	16
Koebner phenomenon in lichen planus	21
Variants of lichen planus	21
Configurational variants	21
Morphologic variants	25
Distributional variants	32
Lichen planus at special sites	32
Infrequent variants	36
Post-inflammatory effects	38
Chapter 4. Lichen planus in children	44
Amrinder J Kanwar, Dipankar De
Epidemiology	44
Pathogenesis	44
Clinical features	45
Diagnosis	48
Treatment	48
Chapter 5. Lichen planus pigmentosus	50
Pooja Pahwa
Epidemiology	44
Pathogenesis	44
Clinical features	45
Diagnosis	48
Treatment	48
Histopathology	53
Differential diagnosis	53
Prognosis and treatment	55
Chapter 6. Lichen planopilaris	57
T Narayana Rao, Lakshmi Sowjanya
Etiology and pathogenesis	57
Clinical features	58
Classic lichen planopilaris	58
Graham-Little-Piccardi-Lassueur syndrome	62
Frontal fibrosing alopecia	63
Diagnosis	63

	Dermoscopy 64		Other mediators of inflammation 99
	Histopathology 64		Clinical features 99
	Confocal microscopy 64		Scoring system for oral
	Differential diagnosis 64		lichen planus 106
	Management 65		Work up 106
	Lichen planopilaris activity index 65		Histopathology 106
	Treatment 65		Immunofluorescence 108
Chapter 7. Lichen planus pemphigoides	69		Treatment 109
Atul Dongre, Uday Khopkar			Corticosteroids 109
Pathogenesis 69			Antifungal agents 111
Clinical features 70			Calcineurin inhibitors 111
Histopathology 70			Retinoids 111
Immunofluorescence 70			Immunosuppressants and
Differential diagnosis 70			immunomodulators 111
Prognosis and management 73			Physical treatment modalities 112
Chapter 8. Palmoplantar lichen planus	74	Chapter 11. Vulvar lichen planus	116
Rameshwar Gutte, Uday Khopkar		Nina Madhani
Clinical variants 74		Clinical features 116
Diagnosis 80		Erosive 116
Malignant change in PPLP 82		White reticulate pattern 116
Treatment 82		Papulosquamous 120
Chapter 9. Nail lichen planus	84	Hypertrophic 120
Shekhar S Haldar, Uday Khopkar		Diagnosis 120
Epidemiology 84		Histopathology 120
Clinical presentation 84		Differential diagnosis 120
Histopathological features 91		Prognosis 121
Differential diagnosis 95		Therapy 121
Nail psoriasis 95		Chapter 12. Histopathology of lichen planus
Trachyonychia (twenty nail		and its variants	123
dystrophy) 95		Bhavana S Doshi, Uday Khopkar
Yellow nail syndrome 95		Indications for a skin or mucosal
Bowen's disease of the nail bed 95		biopsy in lichen planus 123
Pterygium 95		Histopathology of lichen planus 123
Treatment 95		Classic lichen planus 124
Chapter 10. Oral lichen planus	97	Eruptive lichen planus 126
Prasanthi G, Anandan S		Micropapular lichen planus 126
Etiology 97		Vesicular lichen planus 126
Trauma 97		Actinic lichen planus 129
Infections 97		Atrophic lichen planus 129
Stress 97		Hypertrophic lichen planus 129
Genetics 97		Erosive or ulcerative lichen planus 129
Foods 98		Lichen planopilaris 131
Pathogenesis 98		Lichen planus pigmentosus 135
Autoimmunity 98		Oral lichen planus 135
Role of APC and CD4+ T cells 98		Genital lichen planus 135
Role of CD8+ T cells 98		Nail lichen planus 138
Keratinocyte apoptosis by CD8+ cells 98		Palmoplantar lichen planus 138
Role of the epidermal basement		Lichen planus pemphigoides 138
membrane 98		Post-inflammatory hyperpigmentation
Lymphocyte homing mechanism 98		following lichen planus 141

Histopathologic differential diagnosis of lichen planus	141
Lichenoid drug eruption	141
Lichenoid keratosis	141
Lichen planus-lupus erythematosus (LE-LP) overlap	142
Lichenoid contact dermatitis	142
Pityriasis lichenoides chronica	142
Lichen nitidus	142
Lichen striatus	143
Lichen sclerosus Et atrophicus	143
Lichenoid purpura	143
Mycosis fungoides	143
Graft versus host disease (GVHD)	145
Immunohistochemistry in lichen planus	145
Special stains in lichen planus	145
Indirect immunofluorescence in lichen planus	146
Clinicopathologic correlation	146
Chapter 13. Dermoscopy of lichen planus	148
Shekhar S Haldar, Uday Khopkar
Dermoscopic signs in lichen planus	148
Patterns seen in an active lesion	148
Patterns seen in a subsiding lesion	154
Histopathological correlation	157
Vascular structures	157
Nonvascular structures	157
Dermoscopy of variants of lichen planus	157
Hypertrophic lichen planus	157
lichen planopilaris	159
Lichen planus pigmentosus	159
Dermoscopic differential diagnosis of lichen planus	159
Chronic plaque psoriasis	159
Lichenoid drug eruption	159
Lichen nitidus	159
Chapter 14. Lichen planus: differential diagnosis	163
Seetharam Kolalapudi
Eruptive lichen planus	163
Annular lichen planus	166
Actinic lichen planus	166
Atrophic lichen planus	168
Hypertrophic lichen planus	169
Palmoplantar lichen planus	170
Linear lichen planus	170
Lichen planopilaris	172
Oral lichen planus	175
Genital lichen planus	177
Lichen planus pigmentosus	178
Nail lichen planus	180
Bullous lichen planus	181
Chapter 15. Lichenoid drug eruptions	183
Bhushan Madke, Chitra Nayak
Epidemiology	183
Pathogenesis	183
Clinical features	183
Drugs causing lichenoid drug eruptions	187
Histopathology	187
Diagnosis	188
Treatment	190
Chapter 16. Lichen planus and malignancy	193
Saumya Panda
Malignant transformation of cutaneous lichen planus	193
Cutaneous lichen planus to squamous cell carcinoma	193
Cutaneous lichen planus to basal cell carcinoma	193
Malignant transformation of oral lichen planus	194
Lichenoid dysplasia and oral lichen planus	195
Is oral lichen planus intrinsically precancerous?	195
Criteria of premalignancy in oral lichen planus	196
Role of external cofactors	197
Identification of patients with oral lichen planus at risk of malignant transformation	197
Risk attenuation of oral squamous cell carcinoma in oral lichen planus	198
Lichen planus as a paraneoplastic disorder	198
Immunopathogenesis of malignant transformation of oral and cutaneous lichen planus	199
Lichen planus/oral lichen planus and graft vs host disease (GVHD): implications for immunopathogenesis	199
Chapter 17. Local therapy of lichen planus	204
Abir Saraswat
Local therapy of cutaneous lichen planus	204
Antipruritic agents	204
Topical corticosteroids	204
Topical calcineurin inhibitors	205
Other agents	205
Topical therapy of mucosal lichen planus	205

Symptomatic treatments 205
Corticosteroids 205
Calcineurin inhibitors 206
Miscellaneous agents 206
Intralesional corticosteroid injections 206
Intralesional immunotherapy 207

Chapter 18. Systemic treatment of lichen planus 210

Kabir Sardana, Khushbu Goel

Drugs used for cutaneous lichen planus 210
Retinoids 211
Photochemotherapy and phototherapy 211
Corticosteroids 212
Enoxaparin sodium
(low-molecular-weight heparin) 214
Immunosuppressives 214
Biologicals 214
Miscellaneous therapies 215
Type specific treatment plans 215
Generalized lichen planus 215

Localized lichen planus 216
Hypertrophic lichen planus 216
Lichen planus actinicus 216
Lichen planus pigmentosus 216
Erythema dyschromicum perstans 216
Follicular and/or nail
lichen planus 216

Chapter 19. Light therapy in lichen planus 220

Reena Raj, CR Srinivas

Mechanism of action of phototherapy 220
Cutaneous lichen planus 220
Psoralen with UVA (PUVA) therapy 220
NB-UVB therapy 221
UVA1 therapy 221
Oral lichen planus 221
